

HEY COPS!

QUIT YOUR JOB.

Whether the police themselves are “good” or “bad” is irrelevant. A fascist pig or a man with good intentions, they both have a job to do. And that Job among other things is to maintain order in an unjust society run by machines. In short, the police are the dogs of tyranny. The behavior that remains encouraged by the institution is subservient, sadistic, and fascist in nature. Their job, environment, and role within society shapes police personnel into jaded power hungry creatures.

So I ask the community and the police to find another way for a safe neighborhood. The police are a reoccurring problem to any sort of positive social change and tend to complicate personal conflicts, not to mention enable a dependence for people to rely on the police to solve their own conflicts. Police quit your jobs and find a way to do long lasting “good” in your communities. Quitting your job is a start. Planting trees, helping to empower the homeless, providing space for community interaction and conflict resolution, and so on are other alternatives. Because in the end, police have to remember, the people who want to kill you respect you more than the ones who want to use you.
